

Life Skills and Community Access Worker – Whistler

Part-time – 17 hours per week

The Life Skills and Community Access Worker assists adults living with a developmental disability in developing skills needed to function more independently in the community.

Would you be right for this varied, rewarding job? You'd need:

- Minimum Grade 12 with additional coursework in services to persons with developmental disability.
- Experience supporting individuals with developmental disabilities in a broad range of community activities.
- Ability to work independently, with flexibility and an eclectic approach in order to meet the varied needs of the clients.
- A commitment to and interest in the field of service to people with developmental disabilities.
- Must have knowledge and understanding of Aboriginal cultural customs, protocols and traditions.
- Valid First Aid Certificate
- Valid Driver's License

Starting wage: $18.15 per hour plus vacation and paid holidays

Apply today

E-mail: jobs@sscs.ca